Dear Capt. Worthington,

I am glad to be able to tell you that the builders have done a most satisfactory piece of work in the churchyard. The stones on either side of the little path that has been made have been supported with concrete so that there will be no possibility of the work causing them to get irregular.

I wonder would you again convey to Mrs Worthington the grateful thanks of the Trustees. May I also express our thanks to you. I know that the pathway has already been much appreciated by visitors to the grave and for our own household it is the very greatest convenience. As I said before it is a great comfort to know that nobody is trespassing over the graves of others in an attempt to find Miss Mason's .

Faithfully yours,

E. Kitchin
